Summary. Plato's dialog called Euthyphro relates a discussion that took place between Socrates and Euthyphro concerning the meaning of piety, or that virtue usually regarded as a manner of living that fulfills one's duty both to gods and to humanity. It is of particular interest in relation to the fate of Socrates inasmuch as he has recently been

They are the Euthyphro, the Apology, the Crito, and the Phaedo. In the Euthyphro , an attempt is made to answer the question "What is piety?" It has a particular bearing on the trial of Socrates, for he had been accused of impiety and was about to be tried for a crime, the nature of which no one seemed
